JUDGE'S STATEMENT

The works in the McKee Student Art Exhibition represent a wide variety of expression, creative process, cultural reflection, and artistic style. The accomplishments of these young artists are indeed something for the students, teachers and community to be proud of. Selection of the McKee Student Art Awards was not an easy task, as many good examples were represented. The final selections were based on the students' demonstrated understanding of the formal elements in art (design, composition, use of color, line, form/shape, balance, perspective, scale) the handling of materials, and the ability to communicate an idea, emotion or narrative. I also tried to keep a balance in representation by selecting the best example from class projects so as not to have too many works from the same lesson. As with any juror, I was also guided by my appreciation for the work, particularly unique qualities. I applaud the school districts, educators, and all who make it possible for students to be educated in the arts, and to explore the artistic nature that resides in us all.
